ORIGAMI PAPER STAR

ALL YOU NEED IS A STRIP OF PAPER AND A PENCIL

1. Cross the strip of paper over itself

2. Tie a knot in it, being careful not to tear it

3. Flatten the knot down so that you have a pentagon, trying to make sure the sides are all the same length

4. Neatly tuck in the shorter end of the strip into the pentagon

5. Fold the strip back, following the lines of the pentagon

6. Fold the strip over, keep following the lines.

7. Repeat this 'wrapping' process until you have just a small bit of the strip left

8. Tuck the small end into the pentagon

9. Take the pencil, and rub each side of the shape with it. It should make the whole shape puff up so it has more of a 3D look. You can pinch the points of the star as well to perfect the shape

TIPS:

Make sure the strip is the same width all the way down

Try different types of paper- nothing too thick though, wrapping paper works well

If your first try doesn't quite work out, keep trying! These are surprisingly easy to make, but there's a bit of a knack which comes from trying it out a few times!
